PRICELIST 2010

Visiting Grinda is like coming to a place where the world stands still. Located just one hour from central Stockholm, you'll find yourself as far as possible from the madding crowd. Only one thing exists here. The greatest peace and quiet. Henrik Santesson first discovered this tranquillity. The first director of the Nobel Committee bought the island in 1906 and built a summer house for the pleasure of his family. It took two years to build the art-deco building, which today is the beautiful inn, Grinda Wårdshus. As our guest, we offer you the same hospitality as Henrik Santesson offered his - fine dining, beautiful ambience and a good night's sleep in the heart of the archipelago. Spring and autumn, summer and winter. Welcome.
